Sand Castle Date Set for October 1

The date for the Great Sand Castle Contest of Carmel has been set this year for October 1, according to Donald Brown, Grand Marshal of the annual event.

Each season the Sand Castle building contest, sponsored by the Monterey Bay Chapter of the American Institute of Architects, is held on the South Carmel Beach, drawing hundreds of people to the area to try their hand at constructing the most unusual, and attractive castle.

The amateur "contractors" are allowed to begin construction quite early that morning but require them to be registered by 1:00 p.m. Judging begins at 2:00 p.m.

The Grand Marshal announced that all entries will be divided into two categories . . . Novice Sand Pile and Advanced Sandbox. Their classification depends on the whim of the Sand Marshals who are: Gene Takigawa, Jim Brady, Richard Rhodes, Roger Scott, and Eddie Fisher.

The Chief Judge for the event is Boris Jacoudowsky who is now scouring the Peninsula for judges to help during this fun-filled day.

The Mobile X-Ray unit is scheduled to be at the Carmel Post Office between 1-5 p.m. September 12. It's all free, so be certain to check your health.

Rotary Gives Check to Hospital Cobalt Fund

Yesterday at Carmel Rotary Club's regular luncheon meeting, Mr. J. O. Handley, representing the club, presented their check in the amount of $5,000 for expansion of the Community Hospital Cobalt Department to Mr. Vernon F. Hurd, former Hospital Board president.

In accepting the check, Mr. Hurd said he considered this an example of Rotary in action and service above self. Additional speakers included Mr. Tom Tonkin, Dr. Ben Dahle.

Dr. Ferris Burleson was program chairman for the day.

good underground utilities will do the city.

A taxi company from Pacific Grove applied for a stand in Carmel. The company representative said that there were increased calls from Carmel and his organization would appreciate a stand here. Councilman Gunnar Norberg asked the representative

People from all over the world come to Del Monte Forest, many of whom have just one thing in mind . . . to play golf on the loveliest, most challenging courses in existence. They play the tough Spyglass, the famed Pebble Beach, the exclusive Cypress Point and the two beautiful Monterey Peninsula Country Club links. In the same breath, we mustn't neglect the pleasant Peter Hays Pitch and Putt, named after the golf pro who quipped to the complaining golfer whose ball toppled from his tee during a stiff wind, "There's no rule saying you MUST use a tee."

Fisher and Dyer Receive Appreciation from City Council

Admiral C. W. Fisher and Peter R. Dyer, both initial members appointed to the Sunset Commission, and who retired from the commission recently, were given a grand farewell by the City Council last night when a resolution of appreciation was read commending them for their contributions to the City.

Mayor Steve Grant asked the Admiral and Mr. Dyer, to escort their wives before the Council body. Flowers were presented to Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Dyer in appreciation for the hours their husbands spent away from home at night serving the City.

Upon adoption of the resolution, the Councilmen stood to be counted, and applauded the Fishers and Dyers. An engraved copy of the resolution of appreciation will be given them.

The Council took under consideration an ordinance to prezone unincorporated areas upon annexation. This ordinance will "fill the void" during the period of annexation and zoning. The councilmen felt there were additional restrictions necessary and gave the ordinance back to the Planning Commission to rework certain points.

Public appearances were called for and Mrs. Edna Askew came before the Council to voice objection to the PG&E substation in Carmel, complaining that until the station is put underground the beauty of Carmel will continue to be ruined.

Reginald Machado appeared to voice his objection to the PG&E poles that provide underground utilities to the commercial area, claiming that they "looked terrible." Councilman William Sefton agreed that the poles look bad, but he said he didn't object to the one outside his business establishment because he knows how much

"Barefoot In The Park"

The Studio Theatre - Restaurant in Carmel has assembled an exceptionally talented cast to do justice to the Neil Simon comedy "Barefoot In The Park" which opens Friday for an eight weekend run.

Gertrude Chappell, well known for her numerous lead roles at all the Peninsula theatres, plays the game but bewildered mother, Mrs.

Banks. During the past year, Mrs. Chappell appeared in "The Little Foxes" at the Studio and in "The Waltz of The Toreadors" and "The Subject Was Roses" at the Circle.

White Oaks Ends
Summer Musicals

Because of the unexpected departure of the leading man in the highly entertaining and evidently popular musical extravaganza, "Eden-Ski-doo," which had its world premier at White Oaks this summer, it at first seemed necessary to cancel the two final performances as then scheduled.

However, under the tradition in "SHOWBIZ" the show must go on—Ron Stark, volunteered to tackle the highly demanding role of Hannibal, the wayward brother who leaves "EDEN" to see the world, to learn where the sun goes over the hill—and more.

Ron played the part (on 48 hours notice) to a capacity house with that interesting and always to be desired "sympathy" between player and audience. Number followed number in rapid succession with a sprightliness and a verve which carried the audience with the theme of the show.

Accolades are due Ron—the excellent cast, the orchestra, the technicians and Miss Sally Church and her Executive Staff. Most of the summer company members leave to seek their fortunes elsewhere, this being the final performance of the summer musicals to be followed by four performances of Britten's Opera "Albert Herring" under the competent direction of Conductor Chris Nance.

ONE MAN SHOW AT ZANTMAN'S

Bycarnore Shadows is one of the oil paintings by Robert Rishell presented in his one man show at Zantman Art Galleries through September 21st.

Mr. Rishell brings an abundance of sunshine and warmth into his paintings making them a joy to behold. His work has a way of reaching out and making the viewer become involved with the mood of the scene.

The artist is not only a master of landscape, but his portraits of both children and adults are highly perceptive. Though not for sale, a lovely portrait of his daughter of 14 is on exhibit. A few years ago The Zantman Gallery showed a painting of the same child at age of six. This work won an award at the De Young Museum in San Francisco.

Robert Rishell lives with his wife and daughter in Oakland. His father was mayor of that city for several terms. — by Louise Cook

Children's Theatre Registration

Registration for the Fall term of the Children's Theatre classes, sponsored by the Community Theatre of Monterey Peninsula, will be held on Saturday morning 10 a.m. to noon, in the Circle Theatre.

Classes are open to all children of Monterey Peninsula, first grade through 12th grade. There is a nominal tuition charge, with a limited number of scholarships available to qualified students. As classes are necessarily limited in size and were filled to capacity last year, early registration (and re-registration for former students) is advisable.

Now in its eighth season, the Children's Theatre classes were originated by Marcia Gambrell Hovick, director of all classes and performances. For further information call the CIRCLE THEATRE, 624-2669 or Mrs. Hovick, 375-3986.

Local Youth Center Needs Money

Over 700 young people from all parts of the Carmel Unified School District enjoy the use of the Youth Center building and activities.

By their own initiative, the members of the Youth Center have helped themselves through special work projects, dues and admission fees. They also have money coming in from rendering outstanding services at their food concessions during the Crosby Golf Tournament, but these funds are reserved for capital outlay only.

It is impossible for the Youth Center to receive operating funds from this source so it is necessary to ask for contributions from the citizens of Carmel. In order to provide a wholesome outlet for the abundant energies of these young people, contributions are definitely needed. (By the way, all contributions are tax deductible.)

"OLIVER" A HIT AT FOREST

by Margot Hyatt

If ever a man had reason to be proud of his wife, director Cole Weston was that man at the opening of "Oliver" last week at the Forest Theatre. If you weren't able to make it last weekend, be sure to see and hear it tomorrow, Saturday or Sunday if for no other reason than to hear Maggie Weston sing "As Long As He Needs Me," in her warm, throaty voice. She was a great Nancy, red dress, Cockney mannerisms and all.

But there were plenty of other reasons. Scott McGowan did a most touching and appealing job with his title role of Oliver, especially when he spoke the lines of the song, "Where Is Love?" ably supported by Lollie Schwabe at the Baldwin. Musical director, her accompaniment of the whole performance was lively and outstandingly sensitive.

Dick Vreeland did a marvelous characterization of Fagin, the old miser who profits from the pickpocketing endeavors of his young charges. Fagin's song, "Pick a Pocket or Two" was another hit of the evening. Dick did his own make-up which was remarkable.

The romance between Widow Corney and Mr. Bumble, played by Betsy and Edgar Pye, was most amusing. Their British accents lent further authenticity to the production.

The part of rough Bill Sykes was played convincingly by Paul Kazdovac who has a good, strong voice. Bill Faulkner was charming as the Artful Dodger, but his voice, like those of the younger children in the cast, seemed to evaporate in the air of the outdoor theatre.

Gunnar Norberg in his black top hat and cutaway, cast as the undertaker who bought Oliver for five pounds, gave an unforgettable performance. He and his wife, Barbara Norberg, as Mrs. Sowerberry, will have to live down their meanness to Oliver. The Norbergs also handled business and publicity for the production.

Chuck Bramlet rang true as the tough young bully and the fight with Oliver was convincing. Dr. James Gilman, Carmel Cultural Commission chairman, played the part of Oliver's grandfather with appropriate dignity. Dr. Fenn Horton displayed the proper bedside psychology in treating Oliver's illness.

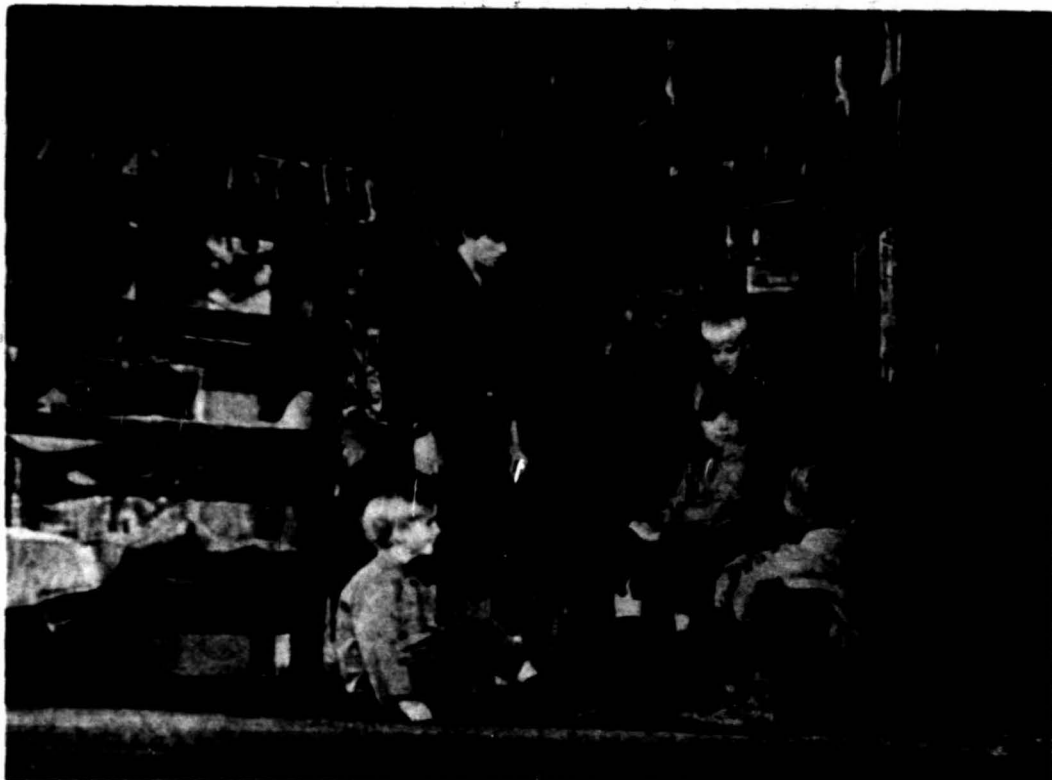

The street singers were visually charming and all the other members of the large cast were well costumed and made up by Sue Brady. It must have been a fun experience for the Workhouse boys and girls to have worked with the talented adult members of the cast as well as under Cole Weston's direction although at times the almost daily rehearsals must have been burdensome.

by Phyllis Jervey

"Castroville's Artichoke Festival"

This coming weekend Castroville will celebrate the largest festival in its history. As our neighbor city is the artichoke center of the world, we'll concentrate on the variety of ways in which to prepare them. We all relish eating this familiar Western vegetable with its sweet nut-like flavor so here's to the festival and the versatility of its artichokes.

The specialty of Castroville (which will be featured at Sunday's chicken barbecue) are fried artichoke ground pepper; 1 tsp. ore-

(halves or quarters), frozen or thawed, into 1 cup boiling salted water. Bring to a rapid boil again, reduce heat, cover and simmer until just tender. Drain and marinate in a tart vinegar and olive oil dressing, adding split garlic cloves, hot pepper sauce, dry mustard and mashed anchovies to taste.

Italian Artichoke Saute

Six medium fresh artichokes; boiling salted water; 1 tbsp. lemon juice; 1/4 cup olive oil; 1 tsp. salt; freshly remaining leaves. Place artichokes in 1 inch of boiling water, to which 2 tbsps. lemon juice have been added. Sprinkle 1/4 tsp. salt over each artichoke. Cover tightly and cook until stems can easily be pierced with a silver fork. Meanwhile, combine hollandaise, ham and pimiento in top of double boiler. Cook over boiling water, stir often. When hot, serve sauce over artichokes. Excellent with lemon-broiled chicken breasts for a lovely luncheon.

Artichoke Cups with Vegetable Salad

Four artichokes, cooked and chilled; 1 cup raw diced cucumber; 1 cup cooked peas; 1 cup cooked carrots; 1 cup raw diced celery; tsp. grated onion; 1/3 cup mayonnaise; 1/2 tsp. salt; dash of paprika and dry mustard.

Remove choke from artichoke centers. Combine vegetables, seasonings and mayonnaise. Fill artichoke cups with salad; arrange on crisp sliced lettuce and serve chilled.

Artichoke Hearts in Tomatoes

One (1 lb.) can stewed tomatoes; 1 tsp. instant minced onion; 1 crushed garlic clove; 1/2 cup dry white wine; salt; 1 (8 1/2 oz.) can artichoke hearts, or equivalent in cooked fresh or frozen ones; grated Parmesan cheese.

Combine tomatoes, onion, garlic and wine in saucepan; simmer 10 minutes. Add salt to taste and drained artichoke hearts; simmer 5 minutes longer. Top with good sprinkling of grated Parmesan cheese. Serve hot as a vegetable with a fine veal roast as the Italians love to do.

Now you'll be able to hold your own gastronomically at Castroville's Artichoke Festival and exchange recipes for that most glamorous of California vegetables ... Monterey county's pride and joy.

The entire artichoke can be eaten with a fork if you trim it way down and remove the fuzzy portion in the center. Try this year's crop of superb artichokes sauteed in olive oil and seasoned with herb.

hearts with salad and frijoles. Now let's start off with these Crisp French Fried Artichoke Hearts

Remove tops with kitchen shears from tiny fresh artichokes. Cut trimmed hearts in half lengthwise. Remove fuzz. Wash in salted water and dry well with paper towels. Dip each into beaten eggs sprinkled with flour to form a batter. Add salt and pepper and deep fry in hot fat until crisp. Drain in brown paper bags. Great as hors d'oeuvres or as a vegetable. In Europe raw artichoke hearts are enjoyed. Take the smallest ones, slit into slender slices; quickly soak in vinegar and water. Drain and marinate in unsweetened French or Italian dressing. Serve on sliced Italian bread as appetizers.

Antipasto Artichoke Hearts Place two 8-oz. packages trimmed artichoke hearts gano leaves; 2 cloves garlic, finely chopped.

Wash artichokes and remove about 3 layers of outer leaves. Trim 2/3 off from tops and cut in half. Cover and cook in 3 inches boiling salted water with lemon juice until tender, about 30 minutes. Drain and remove chokes from centers. In large skillet, saute artichokes in heated oil with remaining seasonings until lightly browned. Serve hot as a vegetable.

Artichokes with Ham Hollandaise

Six artichokes; 2 tbsps. lemon juice; 1 1/2 tbsps. salt; 1 jar prepared hollandaise sauce (this also comes canned and is failure proof); one 4 1/2 oz. can deviled ham; 2 tbsps. finely chopped canned pimiento.

Wash artichokes, trim to 1 inch, pull off tough outer leaves and snip off tips of

a regular diet of information having to do with plants

Before we get much further it might be in order to comment on our experiences at the Monterey County Fair.

The staff of the Complete Gardener had the pleasure of manning the Garden Clinic booth, this year, and we were pleased with the general interest in gardening exhibited by fair-goers. Some problems we noticed, arose more frequently and should be discussed here. Many came in to report that their roses weren't doing well this year. Rust was a prevalent topic and we repeated the necessity for removing, by hand, the infested leaves, placing them in a bag, and burning them. Then we advised prompt and regular feeding to restore vigor to the plants.

We were surprised to meet so many folks who make a practice of using fish emulsion for general fertilization. Small wonder their roses failed to thrive. As we pointed out last spring, roses require a steady level of nutrient, during the growing season, and particularly phosphoric acid. Available phosphoric acid, we must emphasize, at the feeder root level. It was with much satisfaction that we listened to reports from those who had tried blue planting tablets. And we admonished those who had completely neglected their roses. Fast-growing plants require more food, and roses are members of the clan. Fish emulsion suffices for some plant needs, but not those of roses.

We were equally fascinated by the number of you who slipped in and said such things as "Is this where I'm supposed to mention 'The Complete Gardener'?" And those who did went away with tokens from our sponsors and a book especially prepared for the occasion.

Another frequent problem brought to the booth (mostly by residents of Seaside and Marina) was the difficulty of preserving moisture in sand. Beef up your soil, we advised, with clay, compost, and ground bark conditioners. Avoid fine-fibered materials, such as peat moss, and feed with pelleted fertilizers containing at least 10% nitrogen. Urea and sulphate of ammonia do not fit into this picture because they dissolve quickly and leach excessively. Urea formaldehyde, as is found in nitroform fertilizers, and the coarser organics, break down more slowly and last longer. In sandy soils liquid plant foods are a waste of money.

The third most discussed subject was the weed plague. Most of those whose lawns were infested with broad-leaf weeds, we learned, were lax

The Monterey Peninsula Opera Workshop, under the direction of Nancy Ness Bowman, with Camille Olaeta at the piano, presented a varied, but interesting program of operatic selections at the Forest Theater in Carmel on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Bowman has chosen a wide selection of numbers ranging from such long time favorites as Verdi's "Rigoletto," "Il Trovatore" and "La Traviata," thru Puccini's "Butterfly" and Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana" with its stirring cathedral chorus to such newcomers as the now popular "Man From La Mancha" with its music by Mitch Leight.

At the intermission Mrs. Bowman stepped to the microphone and gave a short history of the opera workshop. Started some eight years ago with a handful of her music studio pupils, it has grown to a group which at times numbers 25. These are dedicated individuals who love to sing, who love the operatic airs and who give of their talents to their audience gratis.

Mrs. Bowman pointed out that because of the high incidence of the military here on the Peninsula her workshop suffers from a frequent turnover so that she is constantly recruiting new members. For this purpose she holds auditions and practice sessions each Monday evening at 7:30 in the Music Room of the Carmel High School. At this time prospective members are given a trial to determine their capabilities.

Mrs. Bowman pointed out that in the present company of 15 members, some of her earliest members are included: Nancy Hurdle of Salinas, a talented soprano; Joe Messineo, a gifted tenor; Vincent Russo and Jerry Winters, baritones with a future.

in several Wharf Theatre musicals and had the lead in Studio productions of "Bye Bye Birdie" and "Once Upon A Mattress."

Bob Lotz, with previous stage, screen and television experience in Hollywood, has been very active in local theatre since coming here a year ago. His Ben Hubbard in "The Little Foxes" was especially acclaimed. In "Barefoot In The Park" he assumes the European role part played by Kurt Kazner on stage and Charles Boyer on screen.

Allen Yates takes the role of Paul, Corie's lawyer husband who can't quite see the magic of walking up six flights to an apartment with a leaky skylight or spending an evening eating weird dishes in an Albanian restaurant on Staten Island. He was a Protean in last winter's "A Funny Thing . . ." and served as production assistant for this summer's run.

Dick Felty had no sooner finished the part of Chief Brown Bear in "Little Mary Sunshine" than he continued his stage career as the telephone repairman in "Barefoot In The Park." The delivery man, John Sullivan, who took part in the Studio production of "Arsenic And Old Lace," has a theatrical history going back 50 years to the days when vaudeville was in its prime.

Under the direction of Michael Keller and with setting and lighting by Bob Evans, Jr., "Barefoot In The Park" will run Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights through October.

Helping celebrate the event were Rod Johnson, John Gratiot and Miss Gay Gustafson of Mead, Nebraska.

Few Finishers for Rugged Three Day Event

Julie Costello, riding "Lost in Dust" for Pebble Beach Stables, was the only local rider to place in the preliminary division of the tough three day test for dressage, steeple chase & cross country endurance and jumping skill. Julie, the daughter of Herald city editor, Jim Costello, will enter the University of California at Davis this fall.

Hilda Gurney of Woodland Hills on "Flag's Elf" took home the Western American Perpetual Trophy and gold medal in the intermediate division, followed by Dr. Nancy Telfer, last year winner. The others were wiped out.

Happy Obedience

"A rider should be happy to be on the horse," said Colonel Alois Podhajsky, former director of the Spanish Riding School near Vienna, Austria, in his talk covering the fundamentals of training a horse last Thursday at Del Monte Lodge.

Films were shown of the beautiful white stallions which were developed in Spain in the 16th century of Andalusian and Arabian stock. These famous Lipisan horses are late maturing, he said, and training does not begin until they are four years old. Then training is extremely gradual, only 45 minutes a day at first, and no whip is used.

Colonel Podhajsky told the large audience in the Mural Room the exciting story of how our General Patton helped save the stallions from the oncoming Russians during World War II.

He and his wife were introduced by James M. R. Glaser who also announced that Mrs. Franklin Dalton had won a gold medal at the Pan-American Games in Canada.

What can you depend on?

How often have you heard someone say, "There's nothing you can really depend on these days"?

So often life itself seems unreliable.

But there is something you can depend on.

There is a God you can trust. Christian Scientists the world over are finding this out. They're proving for themselves that God is "an ever present help in time of trouble."

If you would like to learn about a God you can depend on, hear this lecture by Glenn L. Morning, C.S.B. Bring family and friends... the lecture is free.

Unseasonable Rain Dampens Carmel Valley Fiesta

The Carmel Valley Fiesta de los Amigos should be more frequent, especially during the dry season, because as soon as the parade began, the rains followed closely behind... a most unseasonable happening.

The activities of the day featured gay costumes, Spanish booths, horse showings, a parade and an amateur art show, plus an "Art in Action" program demonstrating metal sculpture, batik fabric printing, wood block printing, weaving and the potter's wheel.

Caroline Wolter (bottom right) was chosen the Festival hostess. She is a 1965 graduate of Carmel High School and is now attending Hartnell Nursing School.

LOTS

CARMEL WOODS . . . Oak trees can be saved when you build, and the Seller has an interesting proposition. This land is an excellent value at $12,500 but, if you will deposit 10% down, he will deliver title to you in March, 1968 for $11,500 total. He will also offer financing, if you wish. CARMEL RIVIERA . . . If you can't wait, here is a Seller who has reduced his ocean-view lot to induce a quick sale. Slightly smaller lots with no trees are priced $2,750 higher than this 4/10th acre site at $13,000. Financing available on this one, too.

MONTEREY PENINSULA COUNTRY CLUB . . . We have two priced at $12,000. One is above the road, one below. One is on a quiet street you can hardly find, and the other on a street you can hardly avoid. The latter invites a showplace, while the former is up to you.

over a cliff near Mt. Hermon Conference Grounds in the Santa Cruz Mountains early Sunday morning. He was a grandson of Mrs. Thomas W.

ily Brown, both of Hatton

He is survived by his par-

and Mrs. Thomas H. Brown and a brother, Thomas H.
Brown, Jr., of 880 Somerset sitors to Carmel. Also among a number of other surviving relatives are his aunt, Mrs.

Weldon C. Butler, the former of Brega, Libya, and her two sons; and a great-aunt, Mrs.

John W. Sherwood of Carmel.

An accomplished musician, he had played a number of instruments in several youth bands, and started teaching guitar lessons at age 13. He played on his high school's football team. He served as an acolyte in the Episcopal church. He was a Life Boy Scout, and several years ago was a leading member of a Scout Troop cited for hero-

on a narrow mountain road where a busload of Boy Scout campers met with an acci-
